Classified according to the report, EU diplomats to Brussels following a visit to a refugee camp in Libya without beating around the bush."Conditions...In line with expectations, "the diplomat said," poor sanitation, the space and the overall health, not suitable for hosting more than 1000 immigration detention."Report, labeled "the EU restrictions", continue to pay attention to, the life condition is "dirty" and "small medical clinic (is) a miserable sight."

EU diplomats also recorded interviewing refugees Tarek, Sika in Tripoli detention center. Many of them have already spent several months in prison, some of them has been locked for more than a year. Immigrants had experienced abuse in north Africa during the trip, they lost a lot of money, mobile phones and passports. In a clear replied, this report describes in the Libyan army life hell on earth.

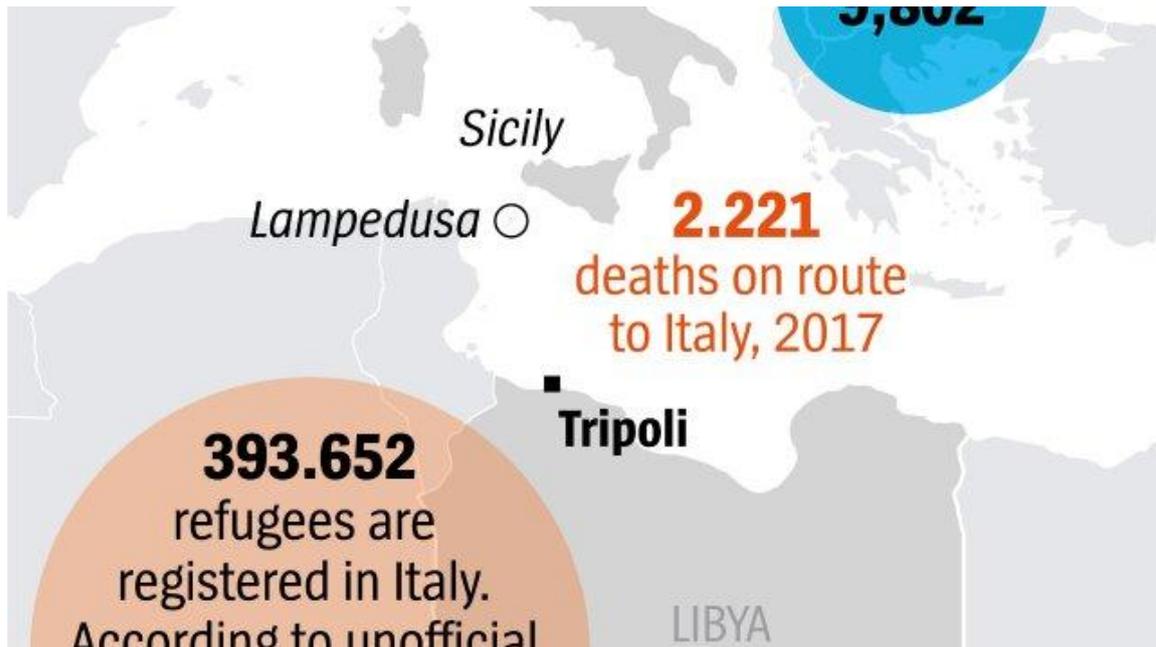

The image of the European Union to provide angel in many people's experience to provide immigration assistance. German diplomats even describe Libyan oil facilities condition is "similar to a concentration camp."

All of these hindered Boris Pistorius's interior minister of lower Saxony, restore the old advice. The centre-left social Democrats (SPD), a member of the Pistorius asked in a recent German daily. Suddeutsche refugees should protect in Libya, though, he thought, the European Union and the United Nations should be responsible for running such a camp. He believes that the only way to do this is to prevent immigrants make risk across the Mediterranean Sea.

It is a controversial proposal, not only because the theme of the address. Pistorius inappropriate social democratic campaign article also heavy, more than five weeks, until the election in Germany. The SPD candidate for prime minister Martin Schulz, after all, always wanted to use the refugee problem question German chancellor Angela Merkel (Angela Merkel) on this issue. Schultz even traveled to Italy provides an important information: although Merkel hiking in northern Italy, I am busy to solve problems in Europe. But because Pistorius, news is that the risk of lost. Now, Angela Merkel, it's not complicated criticism, however, the party itself.

A stable Libya

Pistorius is Schultz's domestic security expert, but he's camp in Libya demand makes it sound as if he is from Mrs Merkel's conservative platform page. It is the opposite of the social Democratic Party candidate. "Right now, I think it is not feasible to reception camps in Libya," Schultz told Der Spiegel, in response to Pistorius's statement. "This camp is a prerequisite for an acceptable state of structure, this structure does not exist in Libya. I think it makes more sense to talk about stability of Libya as a nation."

Advised against immigrants in Libya and clarify whether they have the opportunity in Europe is not a new political asylum. More than a decade ago, and then the federal interior minister Otto Schily also the SPD, put forward the idea of establishing a shelter in Africa.'s interior minister, Thomas DE Maiziere, Ms Merkel's Christian democratic union (CDU), has a similar proposition. At present, the idea is the famous Austrian supporters of the conservative foreign secretary, Sebastian Kurz, a young enterprising men his goal is set in the Austrian prime minister election in October.

Ninety percent of people arrived in the Italian economic migrants, rarely have the opportunity to be political asylum or recognized as refugees. Such a state is a prerequisite for the assigned to other EU countries. Economic migrants, however, the Italian individual responsibility, responsible for provide food and shelter with Rome and deal with their asylum claims.

Refugees of large enterprises
